UNION ASKS WAGE RAISE AS PLANT OWNERS SEEK CHANGES

Two-year Agreement Will Expire on Oct. 1.

FIVE-DAY MEET

Brotherhood Plans to Reorganize Sanitary Trade.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 14.—The conference committee of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters today met with the labor committee of the United States Potters' association to discuss terms of a proposed new biennial agreement for the general ware branch of the Ceramic industry.

Both sides are seeking concessions. The operators are not asking a flat increase, but there are a number of propositions from the various crafts which, it is estimated, would mean an advance averaging around 10 per cent. The employers are submitting proposed revisions of the agreement which would be tantamount to wage reductions. The new agreement becomes operative on October 1.

The Brotherhood committee has been in caucus here since last Friday, perfecting the proposals to be laid before the employers.

Joseph M. Wells, president and W. E. Wells, both of Newell, W. Va., head the labor committee of the manufacturers group, while the conference committee of the operators union, is headed by James M. Duffy, of East Liverpool, O., president.

Tableware Production Cut. It was learned that the drive to reorganize the sanitary workers of the industry, disrupted by the strike of 1922, has already been started in Trenton, N. J., and has met with some degree of success. The drive was authorized during the East Liverpool convention of the workers.

It was declared here today that due to foreign competition and improper tariff regulations, tableware production in his country has been cut to 50 per cent and that a number of American factories have been forced to close down.

It was stated that as an example cups and saucers can be purchased in this country, although made abroad and with duty paid, for less than the actual American production cost.

This foreign competition, delegates said, centers in Germany, Japan and Czechoslovakia, and to remedy the situation the tariff commission will be petitioned to raise that tariff and to have it based upon valuation at American port of entry, rather than valuation at the foreign port of embarkation, as at present.

BABY BLIMP DUE HERE AT 10 TOMORROW

Goodyear Dirigible, "Puritan," to Land at Airport.

SAILS OVER CITY

J. A. Boettner to Pilot Ship From Akron.

As the result of arrangements which were completed today, the Goodyear baby blimp, "Puritan," which will make airport in Madison township to be exhibited at the Chamber of Commerce, will sail over the city for about 15 minutes before going to the field.

The dirigible, which was christened about 10 days ago, is expected to arrive here from Akron at 10:30 a. m. It will be on exhibition at the aviation field until late in the afternoon when it will start on the return trip to its home port near Akron.

The blimp will be piloted by J. A. Boettner, veteran Goodyear airman. Three airplanes will also come here tomorrow to engage in passenger-carrying business during the day. In the event of rain the visit will be postponed until Thursday.

Larger Than "Pilgrim" The "Puritan" is somewhat larger than the now famous Goodyear airship "Pilgrim," having wider cruising range, higher speed, and greater lifting capacity than its predecessor, the first airship of the type to be built in America.

The new Akron airship is 128 feet long, 37 feet in diameter, holds 85,000 cubic feet of helium, and will be able to travel 550 miles with two passengers and a pilot. The latest aeronautic product of Goodyear is the first ship to be constructed by the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation organized three years ago.

TUNNEY WILL WED IN ITALY

"Gentleman Gene" Plans to Sail on August 16.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Under the romantic skies of sunny Italy Gene Tunney will marry the beautiful Mary Josephine "Polly" Lauder.

As a pleasing interlude to the former pugilist's walking tour through Europe with Thornton Wilder, the novelist, the marriage ceremony will be performed far from the prying eyes of an inquisitive American public, it was learned today.

"Gentleman Gene" will sail August 16. Miss Lauder, heiress to the Carnegie millions, will sail at a later date. And so was confirmed the report that Gene would not marry before his departure for foreign shores. This had already been reported on authority of members of a group of important personages who banqueted the neophyte social registerite at one of those terribly exclusive dinners.

But 115 Democrats Go To Polls; G. O. P. Fights Mark Primary

Precinct B of Second Ward Tops List With 172 Ballots in Boxes, While Precinct C is Next With Total of 103 Recorded During Morning.

HEAVY VOTING EXPECTED HERE DURING AFTERNOON; WOMEN OUT

Presiding Judges are Instructed to Expedite Count as Soon as Polls Close at 6:30 Tonight and Dispatch Returns by Special Messengers to Election Headquarters.

Approximately 1,584 of the predicted poll of 4,000 in East Liverpool in today's primary election were in the ballot boxes at noon, according to reports from 17 of the 22 precincts.

The 17 precincts reported 1,189 Republican and 89 Democratic ballots, or a total of 1,248. If the average of 72 votes a voting precinct were maintained by the other five precincts, the total vote at noon was 1,584.

Republican voters outnumbered Democratic electors by more than 12 to 1. The figures indicated that only 115 Democrats had cast their ballots during the morning. Election officials said a majority of the voters were women.

The largest poll was reported in Precinct B of the Second ward, where 162 Republicans and 10 Democrats had voted at noon. Precinct C of the Second ward reported 99 Republicans and four Democrats to have voted. The smallest vote was Precinct D of the Fourth ward where but 26 votes had been cast.

Races for the nomination for sheriff, clerk of courts, probate judge and other county offices are expected to bring out Republican voters. Little interest is being shown by Democrats.

CHALLENGERS BARRED FROM BOOTHS IN CLEVELAND; 50 WARRANTS ASKED

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—Warrants charging more than 50 election officials with violating election laws by barring challengers from the voting booths will be sought today or early tomorrow by members of the Cleveland Bar association, Harley Doncaster, chairman, said today. According to the chairman, 55 members of the honest elections committee were ordered from the booths by election officials and in some cases, he said, bodily ejected.

The board of election officials here said the trouble resulted from overzealousness by the officials. Unusually heavy voting was reported in residential and suburban districts. Challengers representing not only the honest elections committee but also the Republican and Democratic organizations were reported crowding the booths, to guard against irregularities. Most of the forenoon's voters were women, it was reported.

Plane Brings Problem.

Introduction of an airplane into missionary work of Australia by Rev. L. Daniels, the flying pastor of the Bush Church Air Society, brought a problem to the members. All agreed that the idea was a splendid one for the parish, which is larger than England and Scotland combined, but how to maintain the plane was a different matter. The society had guaranteed the support of the missionary, but had no funds for upkeep of the machine, and while the flying member prepared his plans for the initial flight the others sought ways of keeping it going. Ranchers then came forward with contributions, and it is hoped to raise a fund to cover maintenance and repairs.

Apathy Of Voters

Ballotting in today's Republican and Democratic primaries, with contests for state, district and county ticket places, should prove a barometer of the electors' interest in the fall election which is expected to attract a record poll. Granting the fact that many voters refuse to participate in primaries because they must reveal their party affiliation, predictions have been made that at least 16,000 votes will be dropped in the ballot boxes in Columbiana county's 105 precincts before 6:30 o'clock tonight.

If the county poll reaches the forecast mark, and one Democratic and six Republican fights for county ticket places probably will act as magnets in drawing the electors to the polls, it will mean that approximately 53.3 per cent of the eligible voters shall exercise their right of suffrage.

This would prove a record poll. In most elections since November, 1896, in the McKinley-Bryan campaign for the presidency, when 80 per cent of the electorate trekked to the booths, less than half of the qualified electors have voted. In 1920 only 49.1 per cent voted. The total jumped to 51.2 per cent in 1924. But these were presidential elections when interest and excitement are supposed to run particularly high.

Everybody agrees that everything has been done to get out the vote in Columbiana county for the August primaries. Rallies have been held in every section. Some candidates have made house-to-house canvasses in a few cities, while others have tramped north, south, east and west across the county, visiting each of the precincts. In addition, personal letters have been sent to virtually every elector.

Perhaps apathy and indifference, considered a greater menace to government than any party or issue or personality now before the public, will be overcome in today's balloting.

Dwindling Rail Business

The Railway Age cites the steadily dwindling passenger carrying business of the railroads as justification for an increase in freight rates. It doesn't put it exactly like that, but it holds that the railroads can not reasonably be expected to provide for the passenger service expected and demanded of them for the return they are getting for it.

There has been a marked falling-off in railroad passenger carrying during the last eight years. The Age offers statistics to show that passenger traffic will probably be smaller this year than in any year since 1909. If the remainder of the year doesn't show any better business than the months of the year for which statistics are available, it is sure to be.

From 1909 to 1920 there was a steady increase in railroad passenger business. The increase in the ten-year period from 1910 to 1920 was almost 60 per cent. Since 1920, there has been a decline of 33 per cent. Had the increase in passenger business been as great since 1920 as it was during the ten-year period preceding 1920, the annual earnings of the railroads would have been increased $800,000,000. Were the passenger business of the railroads as good today as it was in 1920, the annual earnings of the railroad would be $400,000,000 greater than they are.

"When the reasons why the railways can not stand reductions of their present freight rates, but actually need higher rates, are being considered," concludes the Railway Age, "the enormous loss of passenger business they have suffered must not be overlooked. They have facilities and under pressure of public sentiment and competition are rendering a train service sufficient to handle as much passenger business as they did in 1920, but they have 33 per cent less of that kind of business. Obviously they must get sufficient earnings from their freight, mail and express traffic and their remaining passenger traffic to pay operating expenses, taxes and a return upon investment if they are to continue in business; and nobody has yet proposed that railway service shall be allowed to deteriorate, much less be abandoned."

Admittedly this is fairly good argument from the railway side of the proposition, but there is another side. In this day of the motor car, it will be conceded that the railroads look to long hauls for their passenger business. In traveling long distances, sleeping and chair car service must be considered. Perhaps were the railroads willing to reduce the heavy charges for Pullman accommodations, put on originally as a war measure on the theory that it would keep people from traveling, there might be a marked increase in passenger travel. If the traveler will look at his Pullman ticket he will see that one-third of the charge therefor is the share of the railroad.

Air Mail to Mexico

Less than a year after Colonel Lindbergh's non-stop Washington-to-Mexico City flight, the air mail prepares to follow him across the border. Postoffice departments of the Mexican and the United States governments have fixed tentatively on September as the month in which to start the new international service.

Thus the current year should see creation of an air mail route 2,800 miles in length, the longest in North America. Cities which will be stations on the United States-Mexico service are: Boston, New York, Washington, Richmond, Atlanta, Birmingham, Mobile, New Orleans, Houston, perhaps San Antonio, Daredo, Nuevo Laredo where the Mexican division begins, Monterey, San Luis Potosi and Mexico City.

This service will bisect North America just as the New York and San Francisco air line cuts a cross section of the United States. In about 48 hours planes will pass from the land of baked beans to the land of chili con carne, from the seaside metropolis of New York to the mountain valley metropolis of Mexico City, from the heat of Washington and Richmond to the cool breeze of San Luis Potosi, from the cotton fields and cane brakes of the south to the orange orchards and corn and wheat fields of the southern republic.

Mexico must build an entirely new air route over its section of the division, and the United States will have to extend its present service.

The candidates, at least, will be relieved when the polls close.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin.
By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14.—When the American tourists who bring home souvenirs of their trips abroad discovered that there was one class of commodity on which there was no duty, there was a rush of customers. However, there were others who were ahead of them, perhaps not in greater numbers, but with greater purchasing powers, and there was also another reason that this class of goods was in demand.

Antiques are the imports to this country that can come in duty free, if they are a hundred or more years old. Since buying antiques was already a craze this added only more venerable chairs and bureaus to steam-heated, tiled bathed, electric refrigerator apartments.

Those who are outlaying the tourists are the antique dealers and decorators who have flocked to England and even Holland and Germany. The reason of the exodus is based upon an even more sound fact is that Americans are demanding Americana, and more particularly they are demanding Duncan Phyfe. Naturally pieces after his designs are limited and are commanding fabulous prices.

When a piece of furniture is called Duncan Phyfe or Sheraton it must be understood that it was not necessarily made in their factories, or that either of these artists superintended the making of the products which are classed as theirs. No more than Queen Anne had the bureaus, chairs, and tables bearing her name made in shops belonging to her. These craftsmen published books of design and other cabinet makers created much of the fine furniture called by their names.

What is happening is this. American dealers, some in ignorance and all sincerity, buy old pieces that have the halo of the sacred, to antique fans, name of Duncan Phyfe. Made in England by English artisans, they most certainly are not, but they display many of the characteristics. It is economical to crate the stuff, ship it to the United States, pay duty, as it so often does not pretend or can not be proved to be 100 years old, repair it, and sell.

The customs figures for last year show that more than a million and a half dollars was collected in duty on furniture which was not sufficiently old to escape. Nearly $60,000,000 worth of antiques including objects of artistic and educational value among which was furniture were brought in duty free. Much of the antiquity will be sold for what it is, but some of it will find a new name.

Although the English prize Sheraton furniture more highly than that made by Duncan Phyfe they are willing to market it to canny Yankee dealers or wide-eyed tourists as American, because it can not command correspondingly high prices in that country.

Any one who thinks that he, for the tourists as well as the dealers are gullible in this, is going to get honest Americana in England is too innocent to be allowed to exchange paper dollars for silver ones.

Although most dealers can distinguish Duncan Phyfe from Sheraton, Empire, and furniture of the transition they are at a disadvantage buying abroad. It is admitted by a well-known dealer in antiques who has been a cabinet maker that it is difficult to detect the flagrant imitations that are on the market. In England, unlike this country, there are vast quantities of old wood, and labor is sufficiently cheap to make it worth while to employ mechanics to do the imitative work that requires a high grade of skill. Here it is not profitable to employ a cabinet maker to make over old panels into tables and chairs and chests.

A table of the Duncan Phyfe period, which is loyal to the finest in this man's designs, may command as high as $8000. Chairs have sold in New York for $850 apiece. They are proportionately more valuable in sets. It is obvious that it is profitable to go into the business of changing the name of furniture equally beautiful and worth while to suit the whims of buyers who do not know the difference.

Another phase of the collecting mania is that for garnering old glass. Experts admit that it is almost impossible to detect reproductions, consequently the hobby is getting less popular. A perfume bottle made in Holland can be mistaken for Steiglitz. The label, Sandwich, covers a multitude of glass and the imitations can be so perfect that not one person in a thousand can detect them.

And the buyer who wants to boast of his piece of Duncan Phyfe and not of its beauty, its usefulness, or its suitability, it has been whispered, deserves what he gets when he buys by the label.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Ol' Clo' man sings songs his way through New York streets and around the subway kiosks in a manner suggesting he is about the humblest of lowly workers. "I cash clo's" is his threnody. If you hesitate, his eyes brighten into a flame of shrewdness.

He is as eager as a bird dog trailing a warm scent but when you show him clothes you have for sale his enthusiasm congeals. He appears to be on the verge of tears with disappointment. Certainly you do not expect him to pay even the most trifling sum for such rags?

He is the slickest of bargainers. He will protest, cajole, walk away in disgust and almost threaten but in the end he somehow forces you to accept whatever he offers. His shabby shyness rarely fails to make a deal in the stoniest heart.

Yet the Ol' Clo' man is usually just a good actor. During the hours he may wear tony $150 garments fashioned for him by uptown tailors and ride about in his limousine. It is a business in which alert men make from $5,000 to as much as $25,000 a year.

There is on Elizabeth street an Old Clothes Exchange operated much on the order of the Stock Exchange with seats from $5 to $25. More than 500 Ol' Clo's men bring their daily collections there to be bartered to men who refurbish them to ship all over the world.

Old clothes are shipped weekly to London where they are renovated and distributed to Africa, Turkey and India. Many are later worn by negroes in Africa. One man has a four-story building and two six-story buildings entirely filled with old clothes for weekly shipments.

The Ol' Clo's Man scans obituary columns and mails polite cards to widows suggesting a call to inspect what cast-off garments of the deceased may be for sale. These are generally secured for a pittance and taken to the Exchange for a sharp profit.

A famous Ol' Clo's Man operates in the vicinity of Columbia university. Students are often in need of a little cash and are willing to part with some excellent wearing apparel at a ridiculous price. The Ol' Clo's man is sympathetic, for, as he says: "I know how it is. I gotta boy at Yale." He is reputed worth a half million but his appearance suggests he is on the last lap of a journey to the poor house.

New York taxi drivers are displaying greater caution. Few are zipping around the corner on one wheel of "beating the lights" at crossings. A stringent regulation provides that when a taxi driver receives a summons for a traffic violation his license is automatically suspended. He is deprived of a livelihood until his case is decided. And that often takes weeks.

Drivers of expensive automobiles are rarely haled to court. Traffic officers say they are the most careful of all and most considerate of traffic about them. And they never give a policeman back talk. That counts plenty.

Taxi drivers have private pet names for traffic cops. One on Fifth Avenue is known to the guild as "The Snapper," and he is said to be the hardest boiled in town. Once he waves a driver to the curb, all is lost, and no amount of polite conversation will change him. Another in Times Square is called "Old Iron Tongue." He rarely talks. He just hands out a summons and waves the recipient away. And then indulges the luxury of a sardonic chuckle.

Mac West seems to have eclipsed Texas Guinan in achieving Broadway celebrity. The buxom, blonde star of "Diamond Lil" has issued a brochure containing excerpts from the turgid press puff of those who think she is not only hot but sizzling. Miss West is a rough and ready lady of the type who seems made for those big mink coats and whose jovial hard boiled banter tickles the Broadway mob. She also has a biting sarcasm and loves a verbal scrap.

Kitchen Veterans Go To Camp.

Veterans of the kitchen, several hundred strong, many of them entitled to more service stripes than the oldest top sergeant in the regular army, are encamped in an Adamless Eden near Aurora, Illinois. The encampment is to last five days, during which time no man or child is to be allowed near the place on any pretext whatever. If the "girls" want to run around in the all-together, there's no law against it. They can do exactly as they please, and not even the rattle of dishes in the pan will be allowed to assail their ears.

They are the wives of farmers of La Salle county, where the camp is situated, and they have earned their vacation by long and loyal devotion to duty in the kitchen. Some of them have not had a day off in 30 years. Little, if any, urging was necessary to persuade them to accept the vacation, but it is probable that many a husband is still in a daze trying to remember all the instructions he received concerning the care of the children and the house during the mate's absence.

This is an experiment that deserves nationwide attention. The newer generation of wives, particularly city wives, demand and receive fair play in the matter of vacations from duty. The older generation bowed uncomplainingly to the tradition that a woman's work is never done, and revolt was very unusual. If the Illinois experiment forecasts an awakening on the part of husbands, it should be encouraged. Risking the anathema of the sterner sex, we venture to assert that the old-fashioned wife works harder, longer and under less pleasant conditions than her mate, and if anyone deserves a vacation, it is she. —Columbus Dispatch.

Try a Little Self-Control.

By J. J. Mundy.

Have you perfect control of yourself?

But how do you know if you have not put yourself to the test recently?

You have this opinion because there are certain things that you want to do that you have not done.

You overcome the desire, so you think you are master of yourself.

Have you ever denied yourself the pleasure of indulging in the source of your greatest pleasure or enjoyment?

In this particular amusement you have often realized that you are spending more money than you should — too much time and too much thought.

But never have you suggested to yourself that you curtail your participation in it.

It might surprise you if you should try this experiment. More than likely if you made a resolution against it you would find some excuse for yourself that would enable you to do go on just the same.

If you can master yourself in a thing of this sort and can cease to worry and regard it when it is a matter you care more for than anything else, then you can say with truth that you are master of self.

Try yourself out.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

There are many causes for falling hair. All of them go back to one chief factor—deficient blood circulation in the scalp.

Some of us have large blood vessels and strongly acting hearts. The blood is sent in a forceful stream to every part of the body including the tips of the fingers and toes and the crown of the head. With an abundant supply of rich, invigorating, life-giving blood, the hair thrives and grows apace.

This is not the case if Nature has been stingy in making the blood vessels. Nor is it to be expected that a weak and feebly beating heart will send quantities of blood to the roots of the hair.

Ill health, late hours, loss of sleep and lack of exercise will weaken the action of the heart. Falling hair is merely a symptom of lowered vitality. Restore the tone and vigor of the body and the hair will stop falling out.

There is another factor and it is concerning that which I wish to enlarge upon today. Without the proper foods the hair cannot be well nourished.

When hair is burned, you recall what a punishment and disagreeable odor fills the atmosphere. That is due to burning sulphur, a generous ingredient in the structure of the hair.

When we think of foods too many of us recall merely the proteins, fats and carbohydrates. We forget about the essential minerals. That is one of the pathetic defects of our education. The habits of civilization deprive us of many important things. One of them is the increasing lack of mineral elements in the diet. Mineral starvation is all too common in America.

Sulphur is a mineral we rarely hear about, but for the maintenance and repair of certain tissues, particularly the hair, an abundance must be had. Without it the body must suffer and, so far as the hair is concerned, there cannot be health and adequate renewal.

There are certain foods particularly rich in sulphur. They are lean beef, eggs, milk, wholewheat bread and crackers, oatmeal, beans, peas and potatoes.

It must be remembered that the outer covering of the cereals and vegetables contain the chief mineral supply. They must be cooked in such a way as to retain the sulphur. If they are boiled, the fluid must be permitted to escape in steam and not be poured off, carrying away the dissolved minerals.

Try to add to your sulphur intake

Don't Let High Blood Pressure Shorten Your Life

How to Stop it—Read This.

It may surprise you to know high blood pressure is so serious that insurance companies refuse to issue policies to those who have it. All because it shortens life.

High blood pressure gives little warning and until certain symptoms take hold, you do not know it. They are head pains, flushed face, hot flashes, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness.

Only a purely vegetable medicine like Norma that drives out the waste matter which clogs the system and forces the heart to do extra work can reduce high blood pressure. Often one bottle of Norma will bring reduction enough to stop the symptoms which distress and worry you.

Norma is a physician's prescription. It worked so wonderfully in his personal practice that it has now been placed in drug stores so that people everywhere can obtain it. Check the uncertainty of high blood pressure by reducing it with Norma.

"HANGMAN HOUSE" "MAN CRAZY" HIT SCREEN TRIUMPH AT AMERICAN

John Ford, Fox Films director, has added another notable photoplay to his list in "Hangman's House," magnificent Fox production which came to the Ceramic theater yesterday for a three-day engagement.

Victor McLaglen plays the stellar role of Citizen Hogan while June Collyer and Larry Kent have the featured romantic leads with Hobart Bosworth and Earle Foxe in strong supporting parts. The picture may be rated as one of the most spectacular Ford has made in his seven years' association with Fox. In addition to the principals, D'Arcy Corrigan and many other outstanding players are in important roles.

Based on Donn Byrne's best seller, "Hangman's House" is typically Irish, and in contrast with virtually all pictures directed by John Ford, is packed with human interest and bristles with action.

Briefly, the story is that of an adamant old Irish Chief Justice who, as "Jimmy the Hangman," insists that his one daughter shall wed a man she dislikes rather than the man of her choice, in the person of Larry Kent, who is cast as Dermott McDermott.

When her father dies, shortly after a midnight ceremony in the chapel of "Hangman's House," June Collyer, as Connaught O'Brien, suffers untold agony as the unwilling bride of John Darcy, as depicted by Earle Foxe. Darcy, who is concealing a checkered career, is trailed to Ireland by Citizen Hogan, played by Victor McLaglen. Connaught wonders why Darcy fears the mysterious Hogan but is kept in doubt until the day of the annual steepchase in which Connaught has entered her favorite horse. The Bard of Armagh, Darcy, betting against The Bard, is infuriated when Dermott rides The Bard to victory. Darcy shoots The Bard and is exposed by Hogan as the man who has wronged Hogan's sister in Paris. Gripping sequences pile up in preparation for a smashing climax.

When the old-fashioned dignity of prim and proper New England clashes with modern youth the sparks sure fly.

This is just what happens in Fire National's "Man Crazy," featuring Dorothy Mackall and Jack Mulhall, which opened a week's engagement at the American theatre yesterday.

"Man Crazy" is from the Saturday Evening Post story, "Clarissa and the Post Road," a tale dealing with the survivors of a very aristocratic New England family.

The girl of the family is not so strong for the old conventions. She opens a hot-dog stand at the side of the Boston Post road to help a crippled boy make a living, and this horrifies her old grandmother. Then to top it all she falls in love with a truck driver. Imagine the complications that follow this situation and you have a good idea of the interest that follows the love affair of the girl and the boy! This love affair is punctuated by automobile chases, bootleggers' plots and other exciting events, all contributing to a picture that is lively and spontaneous, with surprises and thrills.

Dorothy Mackall is sweet and charming as the girl, and gives a great performance. Mulhall is at his best in the role of the truck driver who grooves such a backward lover. The supporting cast is splendid, and a good bit is contributed by Edythe Chapman, veteran of the stage and screen, as the grandmother.

John Francis Dillon's direction is splendid, and the story moves with a rapidity that holds interest from start to finish.

"Man Crazy" which was produced by Charles R. Rogers for First National, is good entertainment, and a splendid vehicle for the popular Mulhall-Mackall team.

the Catholic," he said in a statement replying to Senator Edwards (D) of New Jersey. "I am notoriously tolerant but I do not approve the senator's unfair political appeal to American Catholics on the ground Tammany is Catholic and belongs to that church and that no one dare criticize Tammany without being charged with criticizing the church itself and charged with intolerance and religious bigotry."

"It seems to me to be the depth of political depravity for machine politicians to hide behind the altars of Christ and steal the robes of his self-sacrificing ministers with much to snitch the votes of the innocent and faithful children of the church."

"Thoughtful Catholics might well object to such improper use of their sacred, spiritual relationships."

Indigestion Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

LOWDEN LAUDS HOOVER SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

Former Governor of Illinois Breaks Silence.

ENDORSES STAND

Nominee's "Reference to Agriculture Very Heartening."

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The comment of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois on the acceptance speech of Herbert Hoover was viewed by political leaders today as a sort of passive endorsement of the Republican presidential nominee.

Lowden, recognized leader of the middle western farm belt, has remained in virtual retirement since the national convention at Kansas City—a convention that went against Lowden and most of his treasured plans for farm relief.

His announcement, made through John G. Oglesby, former lieutenant governor and now head of the farm bureau committee of the Republican national committee, broke a conspicuous political silence and put the former Illinois governor on record.

Lowden Announcement.
"I am much impressed by Mr. Hoover's acceptance speech as a whole," was the most of the Lowden announcement. It continued:

"With reference to agriculture, his frank recognition of the agricultural problem as the most economic problem in our nation today is very heartening."

"I have stated, I think a thousand times, that a general acknowledgment that the problem exists would be half the battle. If there had been such recognition years ago, the agricultural situation would be vastly different today."

"Mr. Hoover's aspirations to bring the farm population up to economic equality with other groups has my heartiest approval. I think, however, it will be found practically that his proposed stabilization corporation can only attain the object which he hopes to accomplish if the cost to the corporation of stabilizing the price of any commodity be distributed over the commodity involved and not taken from the public treasury."

"In my judgment, Mr. Hoover's statement fails to give assurance of the means that will be adequate to secure the ends promised. He promises higher tariffs, waterway improvement and a farm board to set up stabilization corporations financed by government loans. This last proposal was the basis of the Crip bill, which congress rejected in the last session and which failed to secure farm support."

"Mr. Hoover says the tariff is the foundation of farm relief and promises to use his office and influence to give the farmer the full benefit of our historic tariff policy."

"For five years, western farmers have demanded not only that agricultural tariffs be adequate, but that a way be found to make such tariffs effective on that portion of our surplus crops consumed at home. On the latter, Mr. Hoover is silent. This question has been too much in the forefront of farm relief discussion to be ignored. Farmers will want this question answered before they go to the polls in November."

WHEELER HITS NAMING OF WEST

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Denouncing President Coolidge's appointment of Roy O. West of Chicago as secretary of the Interior, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana today called upon Herbert Hoover to tell the nation whether he approves the appointment.

Wheeler charged that West handled campaign contributions of Samuel L. Insull, Chicago utility magnate in the Illinois primary campaign of 1925.

TRAINMEN TAKE STRIKE VOTE

Conductors and Others Seek Wage Increases.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—Seventy thousand railroad employees are concerned in a strike vote which is to be taken today by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the order of Railway Conductors in western states.

The unions have asked wage increases, ranging from 10 per cent for yardmen to 15 per cent for trainmen and conductors. An attempt at arbitration was made at a meeting in Chicago last week, attended by representatives of the unions, a committee representing the railroads, and John Williams, of the federal board of mediation.

The railroads offered a 7 1/2 per cent increase, according to reports, and the unions, at sectional meetings today, will decide by vote whether they will stand by their original demands and strike, according to A. E. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, with headquarters here.

1,000 ATTEND ROGERS ROAD OPENING FETE

Former State Senator Galbreath Presides at Celebration.

ADDRESSES MADE

County Officials and Candidates Among Guests.

Approximately 1,000 persons from East Liverpool, East Palestine, Lisbon, Wellsville and other parts of the county attended the ceremonies marking the official opening of the East Liverpool-Rogers road, which is a part of the Youngstown-East Liverpool inter-county highway, last night.

The celebration was held in the community hall. Former State Senator A. A. Galbreath, Rogers, was chairman. A score or more candidates in today's primary election occupied places of honor on the platform.

Those attending included a delegation of 50 members of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce and an equal number from East Palestine. Rev. B. H. Shaddock, pastor of the Rogers Methodist Episcopal church, pronounced the invocation. Music was in charge of Steepes's five-piece orchestra. The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor H. D. Cope, Rogers.

Reviews Road Movement.
Galbreath reviewed the movement for the building of an improved road between Rogers and East Liverpool beginning back in 1913 when he was state senator. A bill was later introduced, making the road between Youngstown and East Liverpool through Rogers an inter-county highway. He declared that many of the pioneers in this movement had died. He lauded the Chamber of Commerce and Frank Swaney for their support of the movement.

L. H. Johnson, who spoke for the county commissioners who also attended the road rally, discussed the legislation for the new highway. Frank Swaney, Lincoln highway consultant, spoke on the hook-up which the new road would make with the Lincoln highway and the proposed Lakes-to-the-Ocean road which pass through East Liverpool. He also asked for support of the Madison township airport.

Attorney W. H. Vodrey said that the road between East Liverpool and Rogers would be worth while for the new friends it would make.

Road Builder on Program.
Ted Weidner, of Mellert & Weidner, Medina, said that his firm had built 25 miles of roads in Columbiana county during the last five years but that none of their contracts required the effort the Rogers road did.

William Green, Rogers, said that there was no gate between East Liverpool and Rogers now and that residents of the Middleton township village regarded themselves as suburban residents of East Liverpool. He also lauded the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes said that Columbiana county's system of rural roads is second only to Wayne county, Michigan. Attorney S. W. Crawford told of a conference which he attended at Columbus several years ago when the improvement of the Rogers-East Liverpool road was discussed.

The candidates were then introduced but owing to the lateness of the hour none of them was permitted to speak. Senators Harry Carpenter, Steubenville and Earl Lewis, St. Clairsville, who are seeking re-election, were the only candidates on the side the county attending the rally.

DONAHEY HEARS ATHENS CHARGES

COLUMBUS, Aug. 14.—Claim of political persecution and charges that Ohio National Guard officers violated prohibition laws and were guilty of other misconduct featured a hearing conducted at the statehouse today by Governor Vic Donahey. The hearing related to the charge, submitted to the governor, that Sheriff William Williams, Athens, "consistently failed to carry out the duties" of his office and that he "made no conscientious effort to maintain law and order."

The charge against Sheriff Williams was preferred by Ohio National Guard officers who, in the capacity of "observers" for the governor, have been on duty in the Hocking valley in connection with the coal strike.

In a telegram sent to the sheriff yesterday, Donahey told Williams that he should "at once honestly perform the duties of your office or resign so that a sheriff who will enforce the law may be appointed."

Today's hearing was granted by the governor in response to a request from Sheriff Williams who informed Donahey of his desire to reply to the accusations preferred against him.

FLOOD SWEEPS INDUS VALLEY

SIMLA, India, Aug. 14.—The mighty flood which is raging down the Indus valley from the broken ice dam in the Shyok river on top of the Karakoram mountains in northwest India threatened today to cut off the entire frontier region from the rest of the country.

The torrent was rushing towards Skardo and is expected to reach the Attock railway bridge spanning the Indus tonight. Engineers are working feverishly to strengthen the bridge as its collapse would isolate the frontier region.

Villages below the flood level are evacuated.

NEW STATEMENT

Trustees Refuse to Permit Discussion in Pulpit.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Dr. John Roach Stratton in a new statement on his proposed debate with Governor Al Smith over the statement by the pastor that Governor Smith was "the deadliest foe of moral progress and political wisdom in America today," bars the use of Calvary Baptist church, of which Dr. Stratton is the pastor, as the place of meeting.

Previously Dr. Stratton had accepted the challenge of the governor and said he would repeat the charge and allow the governor to answer him in the pulpit of Calvary church provided the debate could be repeated in St. Patrick's cathedral. At the same time he suggested that a larger auditorium, such as Madison Square Garden, be obtained for the discussion in order to accommodate the large crowd that would be attended.

In Dr. Stratton's latest statement he says that his former acceptance naming his own church and St. Patrick's cathedral, was made in a "jocular vein" and that under no circumstances could he permit his own church to be used for a purely political discussion.

Dr. Stratton says he stands ready to meet Governor Smith at any other place and at any time except on the "Lord's day." It also is understood that the trustees of Calvary church have refused to permit the debate in the church.

Heavy Poll in County.
LISBON, Aug. 14.—Balloting in today's primary election in Columbiana county was brisk during the forenoon hours.

Indications were that Lisbon and Center township would poll a record vote. In Salem approximately 600 votes had been cast at 12 o'clock. East Palestine also reported a large vote.

The vote in the rural sections is not expected to be large, many of the farmers being too busy to visit the polls.

$50,000 CHECK FOR DEMOCRATS

Pierre S. Du Pont Sends Contribution to Smith.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Democratic national headquarters today received a check for $50,000 from Pierre S. DuPont, chairman of the board of the General Motors corporation, who recently declared his support of Governor Smith.

The contribution is the largest received to date by the Smith campaign managers and is one of the largest political contributions ever recorded in any campaign.

DuPont, who is a director of the association against the prohibition amendment, declared in announcing his support of Smith that the governor's open advocacy of modification of the Volstead act was his principal reason for abandoning the Republican party and throwing his support to the Democratic candidate.

Throughout his campaign, Attorney General Turner launched attacks upon the Anti-Saloon league and utility lobbyists and urged the repeal of the Pence act which relates to rates collected by public utilities from their old customers. Turner charged that an improper alliance had existed between utility interests and members of the Anti-Saloon league with a view to controlling activities by the Ohio legislature.

CHICAGO NEGRO ADMITS MURDER OF TEACHER

Evanston Crime Solved Through Victim's Wrist Watch.

FEAR LYNCHING

David Shanks Hid by Police After Confessing.

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 14.—Plea-bargains were being taken today to prevent mob violence from snuffing out the life of David Shanks, the Chicago Negro, who confessed late yesterday to the murder of Miss Jennie Meta Constance, 42-year-old Peoria school teacher and summer student at Northwestern university.

Evanston's "worst crime in a decade" became solved when detectives traced a wrist watch, which had been torn from the school teacher's arm after the attack, to Shanks. He was working in a shoe-shining parlor when arrested. Confronted with the evidence, Shanks said:

"Yes, I did it."

He was rushed to police headquarters, where, before citizens generally knew of his arrest, his confession was taken down in detail. He was then hid away in an outlying district as a precaution against lynching.

The watch was trailed in this manner. When it was definitely established that Miss Constance had worn a watch the night of her disappearance, police notified all jewelers to be on the lookout.

Early yesterday a white boy took a lady's wrist watch to a Devon avenue jeweler to have it relined. It bore the letters J. M. C., representing Jennie Meta Constance. The jeweler got in touch with police and the watch was identified as that of Miss Constance.

Miss Constance, head of the English department at Bradley Polytechnical institute at Peoria, was clubbed to death a week ago tonight as she was returning to her rooming house from Northwestern university campus library.

Her body was found behind a hedge surrounding the palatial home of Attorney George R. Peaks, Evanston millionaire. She had been clubbed to death with a piece of lead pipe. Finding of her empty purse and other evidence indicated her attacker had also robbed her.

In his confession, Shanks said he went to Evanston from Chicago last Tuesday night with the intention of waylaying and robbing some woman. He denied that he had attacked his victim.

All told, the Republican votes tallied 328 and the Democratic 43.

The vote by precinct follows:

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Unsettled and uneasy over the money situation was reflected in renewed selling of the industrial and motor stocks at the beginning of trading today. General Motors declined in the first period to 178 for a net loss of 4 points, and losses of 1 to 3 points were sustained by U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward and other market leaders.

The call loan rate was unchanged at 7 1/2 per cent, but encouragement was given to the bulls by reports that more gold had been purchased in London for shipment to New York. It was also said that the reserve banks were about to reverse their policy with reference to the selling of government bonds in the open market, and were now ready to buy back a considerable volume of war bonds and treasury issues.

General Motors was a target for the first period and several large blocks of the stock were thrown out under 180. Whether anything was accomplished other than the increasing of the short interests is problematical, but big motors appeared to have plenty of support around 179. The Chrysler pool pushed that stock again to 96, United States Steel gave demonstration of its strength, when the stock sold above 144 and stimulated rallying tendencies in the balance of the list.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

From the Warner Brothers Vitaphone Picture Story by Hugh Herbert and Murray Roth... Pictures by HANLON

TWO detectives enter Hawk's office. "What's on your mind?" asks Hawk nonchalantly. "Plenty, Hawk. The murder of one of our policemen was a bootlegger's job. You can tell us plenty. Better open your mouth and speak, or it'll get pretty hot for you. Did you see any Old Century whiskey around?" Hawk laughs at them. "Say, you don't think I know anything about that murder, do you?" he asks.

"YES, we do," one of the detectives answers. Hawk hems and haws and finally leans confidentially toward the men. "I hate to squeal on anybody. You know it. But I think I can help you out. If you'll be in Eddie Morgan's barber-shop tonight at 10 o'clock, I'll guarantee you will find something you're looking for." "All right, at 10 tonight in Eddie's shop," they say as they leave.

KITTY on the way to her dressing room overhears the detectives' remarks. Hawk is framing Eddie. She remembers Eddie told her he was to take the Old Century whiskey to the barber shop to protect Hawk if the club was raided. She contrives to get out of the way so that neither the detectives nor Hawk see her. She must save Eddie, and she must get in touch with him immediately.

SHE slips into a telephone booth, and calls Eddie. She is greatly relieved when she hears his voice. "Eddie," she whispers, "Hawk has framed you. He has told detectives to go to your place tonight at 10." "How do you know?" asks Eddie. "I heard him make the arrangement." The receiver clicks. She is trembling with fear. Eddie believes Kitty this time. (To Be Continued.)

Hoover Will Inject "Big Business Methods Into Agriculture Should He Be Elected

G. O. P. Presidential Nominee Outlines Definite Plan for Relief of Farmer.

By William K. Hutchinson.
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 14.—The injection of "big business" methods into the conduct of American agriculture will be Herbert Hoover's first contribution on the relief of the farm problem, should he be elected president, it was learned here today.

Convinced that agriculture has suffered unnecessary losses through slack business methods, Hoover will seek to organize American farmers into a series of gigantic cooperatives, one for each major crop, in an effort to eliminate waste, improve marketing conditions, reduce cost of production and distribution and increase farm profits. He is certain, it was learned, that proper business regulation of agriculture will go far toward eradicating agricultural depression.

Will Recommend Farm Board.
The Hoover farm relief program, however, will include recommendation to congress for the creation of a farm board, backed by at least $250,000,000 of government funds but regulated and controlled by farmers themselves, for the handling of surplus crops. In his acceptance speech, he also pledged the development of inland waterways to reduce transportation costs, and the equalization of tariff rates on farm products to give the farmer the same protection enjoyed by industry. The Republican nominee declared the "greatest problem" of the farmer though was to devise "some plan, along cooperative lines, that will enable him to protect his surpluses." In a talk to newspaper correspondents about his speech, Hoover told

COLD WEATHER FOR TWO DAYS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 14.—"World series weather," quoth the sport fan; "the idyllic breath of Indian summer," sighed the poet; "fine for football," rasped the half-back, but they all agreed today that "it's too good to last."

Their expectations were bolstered by W. H. Alexander, chief of the government weather bureau at Columbus who cocked a prophetic eye at his instructions and declared that the unseasonable but warmly welcomed breezes and lower temperatures which have enveloped Ohio in a cooling embrace would last "but one more day—two at the most." The weatherman does not foresee an early return of heat, however, stating that showers are expected during the latter portion of the week.

of an incident in the New York fruit market, which illustrated the necessity for injecting better business methods into the agricultural situation.

On one day, he said, 5,000 cars of fruit reached New York City from California and 5,000 more from Florida, although the city's demand totaled but 1,600 cars. As a result, he added, the New York market was glutted and prices collapsed. In an effort to save their fruit, he continued, the shippers sent several thousand cars up and down the Atlantic coast, destroying the markets in all nearby cities. One car, he added, travelled 17,000 miles and when it finally halted, the fruit was dumped into a sewer.

Will Eliminate Waste.
Hoover has become convinced that this sort of distribution and waste caused the farmers millions of dollars in losses every year. He will attempt to eliminate it by getting the farmers to organize nationwide cooperatives to handle market, distribution and production problems. If the producers of an entire crop could discuss their problems—just as furniture-makers, steel manufacturers, oil producers and other business men do—Hoover believes half of their losses could be eliminated. At least, he will give this method of relief a test—providing the farmers agree, as the government itself would only participate in an advisory capacity.

Walker's Mother-in-Law Recovering.
CLINTON, Iowa, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Elta Traverse Allen, mother-in-law of Mayor James J. Walker of New York, who underwent an operation here yesterday for anemia, was recovering today, according to word from the hospital. She will be able to return to New York in ten days, it was said.

City League Championship Rivals To Start Series Saturday

Pennant Winners Prime For Opener at Newell

Schedule Completed by Managers; Games to be Played Alternately on Home Lots; Takes Three Out of Five to Win.

Roy Nicholson's Wellsville Nash Motors, facing their first championship series in the several years in which they have held a franchise in the City Industrial league, and Joe Dickey's Homer Laughlin club, a perennial flag contender, will clash for the 1928 bunting in a five game series beginning Saturday afternoon at Newell.

The West Virginia Potters qualified for the play-off series by front-running the field so badly the second half that it was impossible to head them off after Turk Nash and the Katies had withdrawn from the race.

Wellsville hauled down the prize in the first half in a torrid finish in which they nosed out Turk Nash by a narrow margin.

Arrangements for the series were definitely completed at a meeting of league pilots last night. Three victories out of five will decide the championship for the present season.

RECREATION LEAGUE

Smith News and Club Billiards met last night for the third time this season and for the third time the game went to extra innings before a decision was reached. The Clubs coped, 6 to 5, after 12 innings of give and take.

Smith News started with a cluster of four in the first frame and landed one in the third, but thereafter were unable to do much further in the way of scoring. The Clubs reversed the order by getting away to a bad start and then rallying in the eighth to knot the count. Webb, Alcock, Horton and Wolfe of the winners and Coleman, Canavan and Adzell of the losers had two safeties apiece.

Tennis Committee To Take Up Tilden 'Pro-Amateur' Problem

Action of Association's Advisory Committee Today May Definitely Settle Star's Status.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Skirmishing at short range, and maybe no range at all, over the honor or something of William Tilden will commence promptly at noon today when the advisory committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association is scheduled to go into self-communion. It will be only a "regular" weekly meeting, we are told, but the understanding is that the Tilden matter will get quite an airing, if it actually doesn't occupy the attending gentlemen to the exclusion of all else.

By the time they emerge again into the light of day, it may be that Tilden's status as an amateur or professional will be virtually determined. Of course, you never heard of an advisory committee that was clothed with authority to command. However, this one is different in two ways. First, six of its nine members also are identified with the executive committee, which definitely will pass upon Tilden's case on August 24. Second, this meeting of the advisory committee is so "regular" that perhaps as many as twenty members of others may be there in an ex-officio, or kibitzer, capacity.

Judged upon surface indications, today's conference, closed to the outside world as definitely as though the prime minister and his cabinet were about to declare war, will couple President Samuel H. Collom and Joseph W. Wear, the recently resigned Davis cup committee chairman, against the field. They are the only out and out Tilden men on the roster and the presence of outsiders won't help the situation, either. For the more U. S. L. T. A. committeemen you drape about the premises, the less Tilden men you are likely to have at the roll call.

Those on the advisory committee who are believed to be anti-Tilden in sentiment, if not in action, are Louis J. Carruthers, Louis B. Daley, Jones W. Mersereau, Joseph W. Thurston and Holcombe Ward. Paul W. Gibbons and Harry S. Knox are regarded as doubtful quantities—on the fence, in other words, ready to jump with the "cat." Of those mentioned, only Mersereau, Thurston and Wear are not members of the executive committee which is to sit in actual judgment of Tilden on the twenty-fourth of the month.

After knocking out a triple, Thompson got home for the only count made by the Office aggregation. Slater and Ammon were scored for the Open Hearth. Mundy, shifted from his usual place on the bags to the hurler's box, gave the Open Hearths four hits.

National Leaguers Go West

Western Clubs of Junior Loop on Final Trip East.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The eastern teams in the National league begin their final invasion of the west today and the western clubs of the American league inaugurate their last tour of the east this season.

The alleged reformation of the New York Yankees, consisting mainly of four straight victories over the tail-end Boston Red Sox will be put to the acid test when they take on the Chicago White Sox. The hardpressed St. Louis Cardinals should enjoy a breathing spell while entertaining the Boston Braves, but the second-place New York Giants have a hard row to hoe in Chicago, where they have won only one game this year.

The Athletics cut the Yanks' lead to 4 1/2 games yesterday when Lefty Grove held Detroit to two singles, winning, 7 to 1.

Remy Kremer of the Pirates beat Brooklyn for the third time within a week, 6 to 1.

With big Ed Morris on the mound, the Red Sox handed Cleveland a 6 to 2 shellacking. The Bobble southpaw is Boston's 1928 miracle man, for he has won no less than fifteen games.

The Cardinals are preparing to recall star boarders from their various baseball farms for the final drive down the stretch. Ernest Orsatti, Minneapolis outfielder who looked like the real McCoy with the Cards last fall, will be one of the first prodigal sons to return.

Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Red Sox looking for players with color and spirit and he has made a good move in getting Outfielder Heinie Mueller from Toledo in exchange for Eddie Moore. Der Heinie will go to any lengths to win a ball game. While with the Giants he once was trapped off base but got back safely by leaping into the air and blocking a thrown ball with his jaw.

Burlie Grimes, the spitball pitcher, cost Mueller his job with the Cardinals. Hits made off grimes are hard to handle because of his spitter. So after catching a short fly hit with Burleigh, in the box Mueller carefully dried the ball on his spirt to avoid making a wild throw. A runner on third scored with the winning tally by a city block and a few days later Mueller was playing with Toledo.

Deshler and Stoffell Mound Rivals Tonight

Will Hurl for Turk Nash and Katies, Respectively, in Opening Game of Series at Columbian Park.

"Sonny" Deshler, Turk Nash right hander who led the City league in pitching during the first half, will do the chucking for the Motors tonight when they oppose the K. T. K. club, also a former league organization, in the first clash of a five game series at Columbian park.

Don Stoffell, who has been throwing them in the Midland circuit this season, will oppose Deshler on the slab. Stoffell, at the outset of the season, was the property of the Madison Billiards. He played several games with the Billiards. A few weeks ago he was traded to K. T. K., and in his first appearance on the mound for McCoys' crew, defeated Turk Nash.

The Katies will have Cracker Howell in reserve. In the event that all goes well tonight, Howell undoubtedly will be used in the second tilt of the series, scheduled for Friday night.

The third game will be played next Tuesday and the fourth on next Thursday.

Captain and Shortstop Les McMath of Turk Nash possibly will be absent when the two squads line up for combat on the East End lot tonight. McMath is ill and probably will be unable to don his uniform. At the same time, Manager John Fowler was uncertain as to whether Johnny Watson, third baseman, would be able to play. In that event, it is likely that the rival club will grant permission to fill the infield gaps.

With these exceptions, lineups of both clubs are expected to be intact. Tonight's tilt will start at 5:45 o'clock.

GROCCERS DOWN ALL-STAR NINE

Laneve Grocers defeated the Newell All Stars in two games out of three on the Newell lot. The Grocers took the first game, 16 to 12; lost the second, 5-4, and capped the final, 7-5.

Mystery at Styles

A Mystery Serial That Defies Solution

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

"I will remember. Women are doing great work nowadays, and Mademoiselle Gyneth is clever—oh, yes, she has brains, that little one."

"Yes. I believe she has passed quite a stiff exam. Without doubt. After all, it is very responsible work. I suppose they have very strong poisons there?"

"Yes, she showed them to us. They are kept locked up in a little cupboard. I believe they have to be very careful. They always take out the key before leaving the room."

"Indeed. It is near the window, this cupboard?"

"No, right the other side of the room. Why?"

Poirot shrugged his shoulders.

"I wondered. That is all. Will you come in?"

We had reached the cottage.

"No. I think I'll be getting back. I shall go round the long way through the woods."

The woods round Styles were very beautiful. After the walk across the open park, it was pleasant to saunter lazily through the cool glades. There was hardly a breath of wind, the very chirp of the birds was faint and subdued. I strolled on a little way, and finally flung myself down at the foot of a grand old beech-tree. My thoughts of mankind were kindly and charitable. I even forgave Poirot for his absurd secrecy. In fact, I was at peace with the world. Then I yawned.

I thought about the crime, and it struck me as being very unreal and far off.

I yawned again.

Probably, I thought, it really never happened. Of course, it was all a bad dream. The truth of the matter was that it was Lawrence who had murdered Alfred Inglethorpe with a croquet mallet. But it was absurd of John to make such a fuss about it, and to go shouting out: "I tell you I won't have it!"

I woke up with a start.

CHAPTER 27.

At once I realized that I was in a very awkward predicament. For, about twelve feet away from me John and Mary Cavendish were standing facing each other, and they were evidently quarrelling. And, quite as evidently, they were unaware of my vicinity, for before I could move or speak John repeated the words which had aroused me from my dream.

"I tell you, Mary, I won't have it."

Mary's voice came, cool and liquid:

"Have you any right to criticize my actions?"

"It will be the talk of the village! My mother was only buried on Saturday, and here you are gadding about with the fellow."

"Oh," she shrugged her shoulders, "if it is only village gossip that you mind!"

"But it isn't. I've had enough of the fellow hanging about. He's a Polish Jew, anyway."

"A tinge of Jewish blood is not a bad thing. It leavens the—she looked at him—"stolid stupidity of the ordinary Englishman."

Fire in her eyes, ice in her voice. I did not wonder that the blood rose to John's face in a crimson tide.

"Mary!"

"Well?" Her tone did not change.

The pleading died out of his voice.

"Am I to understand that you will continue to see Bauerstein against my express wishes?"

"If I choose."

"You defy me?"

"No, but I deny your right to criticize my actions. Have you no friends of whom I should disapprove?"

John fell back a pace. The colour ebbed slowly from his face.

"What do you mean?" he said, in an unsteady voice.

"You see!" said Mary quietly. "You do see, don't you, that you have no right to dictate to me as to the choice of my friends?"

John glanced at her pleadingly, a stricken look in his face.

"No right? Have I no right, Mary?" he said unsteadily. He stretched out his hands. "Mary—"

For a moment, I thought she wavered. A softer expression came over her face, then suddenly she turned almost fiercely away.

"None!"

She was walking away when John sprang after her and caught her by the arm.

"Mary—his voice very quiet now—"are you in love with this fellow Bauerstein?"

She hesitated, and suddenly she swept across her face a strange expression, old as the hills, yet with something eternally young about it. So might some Egyptian sphinx have smiled.

She freed herself quietly from his arm, and spoke over her shoulder.

"Perhaps," she said, and then swiftly passed out of the little glade, leaving John standing there as though he had been turned to stone.

Rather ostentatiously, I stepped forward, cracking some dead branches with my feet as I did so. John turned. Luckily, he took it for granted that I had only just come upon the scene.

"Hullo, Hastings. Have you seen the little fellow safely back to his cottage? Quaint little chap! Is he any good, though, really?"

"He was considered one of the finest detectives of his day."

"Oh, well, I suppose there must be something in it, then. What a rotten world it is, though!"

"You find it so?" I asked.

"Good Lord, yes! There's this terrible business to start with. Scotland Yard men in and out of the house like a jack-in-the-box! Never know where they won't turn up next. Screaming headlines in every paper in the country—damn all journalists, I say! Do you know there was a whole crowd staring in at the lodge gates this morning. Sort of Madame Tussaud's chamber of horrors business that can be seen for nothing. Pretty thick, isn't it?"

"Cheer up, John!" I said soothingly. It can't last for ever."

"Can't it, though? It can last long enough for us never to be able to hold up our heads again."

"No, no, you're getting morbid on the subject."

"Enough to make a man morbid, to be stalked by beastly journalists and stared at by gaping moon-faced idiots, wherever he goes! But there's worse than that."

"What?"

John lowered his voice:

"Have you ever thought, Hastings—it's a nightmare to me—who did it? I can't help feeling sometimes it must have been an accident. Because—because—who could have done it? Now Inglethorpe's out of the way, there's no one else; no one, I mean except—one of us."

Yes, indeed, that was nightmare enough for any man! One of us? Yes, surely it must be so, unless—

A new idea suggested itself to my mind. Rapidly, I considered it. The light increased. Poirot's mysterious doings, his hints—they all fitted in. Fool that I was not to have thought of this possibility before, and what a relief for us all.

"No, John," I said, "it isn't one of us. How could it be?"

"I know, but, still, who else is there?"

"Can't you guess?"

"No."

I looked cautiously round, and lowered my voice.

"Dr. Bauerstein!" I whispered.

"Impossible!"

"Not at all."

"But what earthly interest could he have in my mother's death?"

"That I don't see," I confessed, "but I'll tell you this: Poirot thinks so."

"Poirot? Does he? How do you know?"

I told him of Poirot's intense excitement on hearing that Dr. Bauerstein had been at Styles on the fatal night, and added:

"He said twice: 'That alters everything.' And I've been thinking. You know Inglethorpe said he had put down the coffee in the hall? Well, it was just then that Bauerstein arrived. Isn't it possible that, as Inglethorpe brought him through the hall, the doctor dropped something into the coffee in passing?"

"H'm," said John. "It would have been very risky."

"Yes, but it was possible."

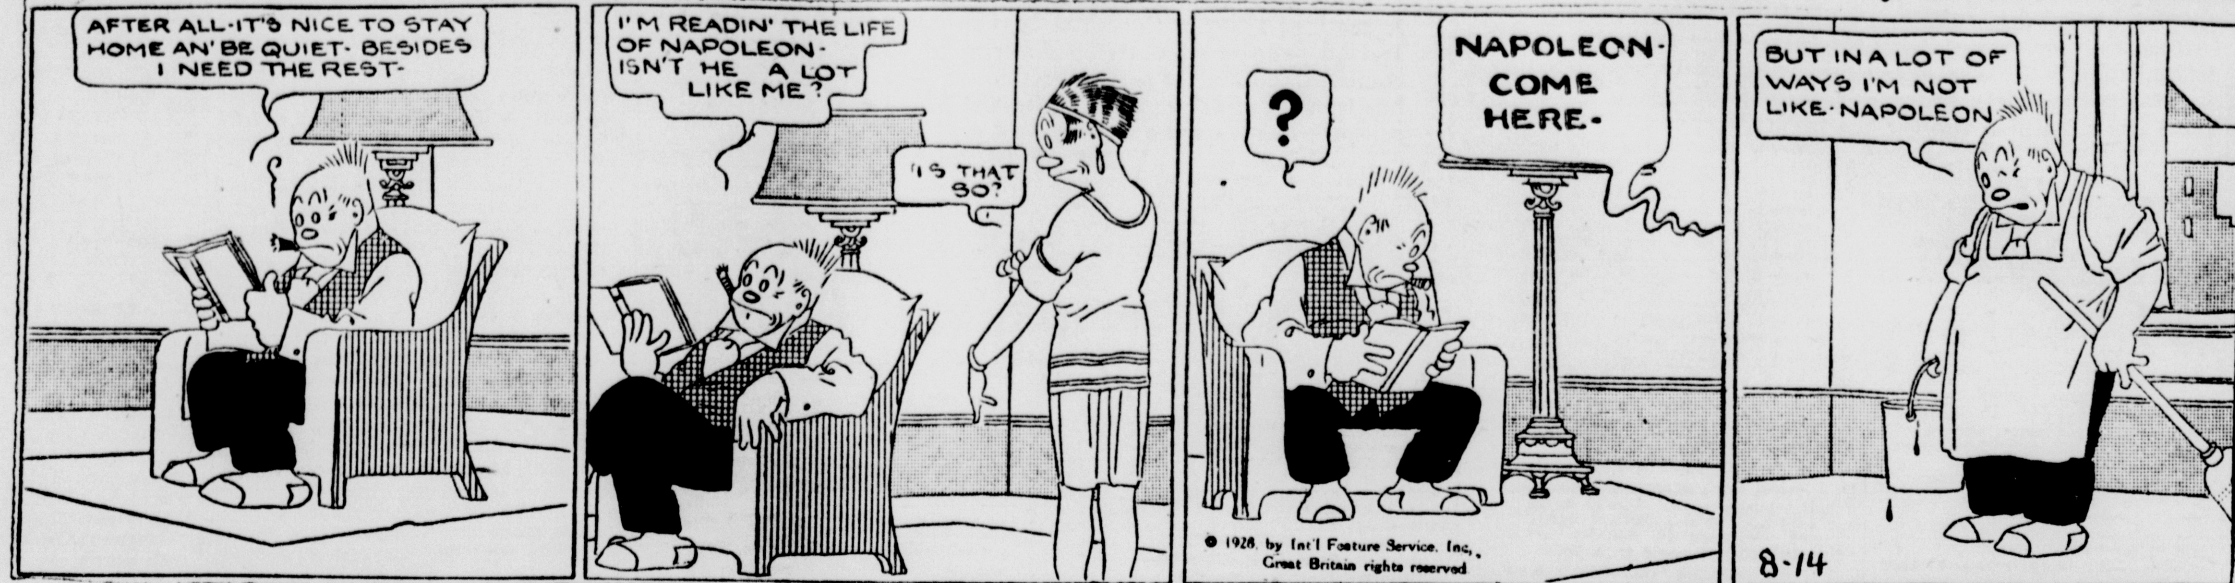

"And then, how could he know it was his coffee? No, old fellow, I don't think that will wash."

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton of Kansas City. "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 8801 Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. Correspondence will be strictly confidential.

Baxter alleges he is held without cause in county jail as accessory before the fact of robbery in connection with the holdup of a Midland mill worker on the Fairview road several weeks ago.

Edward Wash, also colored, confessed, police say, to the holdup and to shooting a Fairview farmer, who attempted to prevent the robbery. Baxter is alleged by police to have been with Wash at the time of the robbery and shooting. Wash is also held in county jail.

GOV. AL SMITH GOES TO WORK ON HIS SPEECH

Ten Farm Experts Return Home After Conference.

FEE PLAN HIT Nominee Hopes to Win Corn Belt Support.

By Raymond I. Borst.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Convinced that he has won the support of farm leaders from various parts of the country because of his stand on farm relief, Governor Al Smith today was to put the final touches on the address he will deliver one week from tomorrow in formally accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Although the ten farm experts with whom he conferred for five hours at the executive mansion yesterday, left for their homes without announcing that they would publicly support him, the governor feels, according to his advisers, that eventually a majority of them will throw their strength to the Democratic ticket.

Six of the ten farm experts who came here for a round table discussion of the agricultural problem with Smith are rated as Republicans. Two of them, Earl C. Smith, of Illinois, and Frank W. Murphy, of Massillon, were delegates to the Republican national convention.

Smith is president of the Illinois agricultural association with a membership of 60,000. Murphy is chairman of the legislative committee of the Corn Belt Committee of Twenty-two.

Bluntly Defines Attitude.

According to reports at the capitol today, two or three of the farm leaders made a futile attempt to induce Smith to take a decided stand in favor of the equalization fee as contained in the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill which was vetoed by President Coolidge. The governor is said to have bluntly told them that he subscribed to the broad principle of controlling surplus farm commodity and assessing the cost on the group to be benefited, but that he would not take any definite stand now as to the details of such a plan.

Both Smith and the leaders insisted that farm relief and no politics had been discussed at their five-hour conference in the executive mansion. The chief reason why the governor invited the experts to Albany, according to his close friends, was to make an open bid for the farm vote of the middle west.

Peek Member of Delegation.

George N. Peek, of Moline, Illinois, chairman of the corn belt committee of twenty-two, was among the farm leaders who conferred with the governor. He is normally a Republican, but he announced recently that he would support the Democratic ticket because of Smith's stand on farm relief. It is understood that when Peek left the mansion he quietly told the governor that he would do his best to line all the other farm experts up for him.

William H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau, intimated when he left the mansion that he would shortly make a public announcement as to whether he would support Smith. Settle led a delegation of farmers to Kansas City at the time of the Republican national convention and waged a bitter fight to prevent the nomination of Herbert Hoover.

THE SKY'S THE LIMIT AT THE PROVING GROUND

The sky is the limit at the great Proving Ground of General Motors, near Milford, Michigan.

Every phase of a car's performance is tested to the limit of its ability.

The new Oldsmobile went through 1,177,000 miles of testing at the Proving Ground before it was ever offered to the public—tests far more severe than any owner could ever give.

And thousands of Oldsmobile buyers throughout America have added further proof in the form of millions of miles of actual driving.

But don't accept even this proof as final. Come drive the Fine Car of Low Price yourself and make your own comparisons.
